

PSALM 93

“The Peerless Poems of David the King”

September 30, 2016

God, the Lord, forever reigneth;
He is clothed with majesty;
He is clothed with strength and honor;
He doth rule o'er land and sea.

He the world hath well established,
That it cannot be removed;
Lord, Thou art form everlasting -
This Thy wondrous works have proved.

Lo! the floods their voice have lifted,
And the waves a tumult make;
But the Lord on high is greater,
He control o'er them doth take.

Sure are all Thy testimonies,
They with righteousness accord;
Holiness Thy house becometh,
Now, and evermore, O Lord.
